

The Forum of Milan, which is today called Mediolanum Forum, opened in 1990 and is the main covered polyfunctional venue in the north of Italy.

Along with the PalaLottomatica in Rome, which is also managed by the ForumNet Group, the Mediolanum Forum is the only Italian structure to be included in the prestigious EAA (European Arenas Association), which features the most important European arenas. The building is arranged over three floors and has a total area of 40,000 sqm. Thanks to its modularity and suitability for any type of event, over the years it has become a point of reference for the biggest international events, including concerts with the most famous artists, sporting events of primary importance, shows, conventions, fairs, exhibitions, competitions and television productions as well as smaller events, such as gala dinners and pre or after show activities. The Mediolanum Forum offers various internal spaces with different dimensions and characteristics. These can be used simultaneously or independently, as required by the type of event. As well as the Central Arena, the venue offers the Premium, Gallery and Gold Halls, the Quota Otto spaces and various external spaces. The Arena's upper tier (Quota Ventuno) hosts the "Sky Belvedere", a refined environment which directly overlooks the parterre and which can be exclusively reserved for press conferences, meetings and corporate hospitality activities. The Mediolanum Forum has ample dedicated parking facilities and will soon have a dedicated stop on Line 2 of the Milanese Underground.

The Central Arena is the heart of the Mediolanum Forum. It is the largest space within the venue and is situated at 4.6 metres above the external ground level.

As well as hosting concerts of the most famous international music stars, large shows and sporting events with different space configurations and areas, the Central Arena is the ideal setting for conventions, gala dinners and receptions, competitions and fairs. Different space configurations can in fact be offered through the use of the building's long or short sides, the stalls, a modular use of the stands, etc.

A dimming system for the stands enables the capacity to be reduced from 12,700 to 3,500 places, while the parterre area alone can host more than 2,000 seated people.

Along the two sides of the Arena there are 12 changing rooms of different sizes (that are available as service spaces) while loading and unloading takes place through a roomy freight elevator and 2 vehicle entrances which lead straight to the parterre area.

The versatility of the Central Arena is completed by the vertical height of the space which leaves plenty of room for all types of equipment to be suspended.

The Gallery Hall, which is situated at grade level within the structure, has an area of 2,400 sqm and is suited for hosting conventions, gala dinners and fairs.

It can be used independently or along with the Mediolanum Forum's other halls (Premium Hall and Gold Hall) - which are directly connected to it - to form a space with a total area of 4,600 sqm.

The Gallery Hall can be customised and divided into various sections through the use of mobile dividing walls. It also has a foyer of 600 sqm (which is normally used as a reception), a cloakroom and a welcome area.

The Hall's technical features are also impressive: the audio service guarantees a homogeneous sound distribution throughout the entire space, while the system of motorised trusses facilitates the requirements - in terms of suspended structures - for all types of events.

A dedicated parking area with more than 800 places is situated opposite the Hall.

The Premium Hall of the Mediolanum Forum has an area of 1,600 sqm and a height of 7 metres. It can host up to 1,200 people with an auditorium set-up and 1,000 covers for a gala dinner.

Its strategic position next to the Gallery Hall enables both halls to be used at the same time for the organisation of larger events, such as fairs.

Another feature of the Premium Hall is its position opposite the Teatro della Luna, which makes it particularly suited for pre or after show events or as a support for conventions taking place in the theatre.

The Premium Hall has a dedicated parking area with 450 places.

Gold Hall

Mediolanum Forum

The Gold Hall has an area of 600 sqm and is the smallest of the three halls which are situated at grade level within the Mediolanum Forum (Gallery Hall and Premium Hall). It is in a strategic position opposite the Teatro della Luna.

The Hall was recently renovated and includes the Live Forum, a venue for live music which is open to the public. With a dedicated bar area, the Hall is perfect for company events, as well as pre and after show activities and offers the added feature of its own events calendar.

The Gold Hall can host 100 to 400 people or can be used as a private area to support larger events that are organised in the other rooms.

The Gold Hall has a dedicated parking area with more than 200 places.

Quota Otto is a large modular space that is ideal for organising company dinners, hospitality areas and fairs. It can be divided into four independent rooms Sala Grigia (Grey Room), Sala Blu (Blue Room), Sala Verde (Green Room) and Sala Rossa (Red Room). In addition, there are two terraces of 1,000 and 400 sqm respectively.

The space of Quota Otto forms a ring around the intermediate level of the Central Arena, which it is connected to through direct and reserved access points, different from those used for the audience during the events.

Thanks to the availability of freight elevators and escalators, the entire space is connected to the rest of the venue to enable more complex set-ups and in order to rationalise the management of flows of guests and visitors.

With an overall capacity of more than 2,700 people (with a gala dinner configuration), Quota Otto is particularly suited for use as a support area for large conventions that are hosted within the Central Area.

It also has a large reception (which can be useful for setting administrative areas or cloakrooms). This makes Quota Otto an ideal space for pre or after show company events.
